They got inserted in the proclamation what General Burnside overlooked, or he would have seen it was a falsehood. The proclamstion asserts that an armed force of rebels were in the State for the "avowed" purpose of controlling the election. Burnside knew this was not so; for he telegraphed to Halleck three days afterward that the rebel force, which was very small, was retreating out of the State; that it came to make a diversion in favor of THE ONLY COMPLETE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE Morgan, instead of coming with the avowed

> From all this, we infer that Burnside was not the author really of this proclamation. Will the Gazette be good enough to tell who from this State solicited this proclamation, and inserted in it the falsehood that a trifling squad of rebels came here to control the vote of the State? The story was a transparent, ridiculous falsehood, and we should be glad to know who told it. We expect the editor of the Gazette could let out the secret. He seems to be in close communion with men from this State who would, to gain a party end, make fabulous assertions. Who are they?

WAR AND WEAPONS .- Before the invention gunpowder the ancients contrived a number of different weapons to supply what is much more ably performed by our artillery. For siege operations they used the batteringram, the testude, and the towers. The battering-ram, as its name implies, was used to batter the walls of towns, or burst open their ponderous gates. This seems a poor substitute for our cannon. It was originally a huge beam borne by the soldiery and dashed against the opposing walls. A mathematician has calculated that one of these weighing two tuns, and moved by a force of a thousand men, was equal to a 36-pounder fired point-

We read of them which weighed forty and fifty tuns, and required fifteen hundred men to move them. It would certainly require the solidier of a Sumter or Great Redan to resist such strength. The battery was however clumsy and unmanageable. Those who handled it were too much exposed. The testudo was a shelter of boards overlapping. and upheld on the arms of the soldiers in the advance against its walls, so that it formed a is right now, Fremont was right before he shed upon which the enemy's missiles fell and were thrown off. The iron-clad battery which moved against Sumter was in the form of a testudo. The towers were built so as to overtop the walls, and being rolled up to them, the archers and fire-throwers cast weapons

Besides these were the ballista, the catapulta and the tormentum. The catapulta was an immense bow, bent by a lever and winch, and was intended to throw arrows. The ballista was more like a cross-bow or a nserted in beams and the missile, an immense stone, was placed on the level or cross of the bow. It being tightened by leverage, would, from its spring, throw its missile with considerable force. The tormentum was contwisted rope. The principle is seen in the cross-piece of a common wood-saw, which, being drawn back, springs to its place with considerable force. The tormentum was in-

JUNIOR EXHIBITION .- The members of the Junior Class of the Male High School held their Annual Exhibition in the Chapel of the Institution on Thursday night last. The room was crowded at an early hour by the friends of education. The exercises consisted of orations and the reading of the " Athenea." a paper published by a literary society conected with the school. Music by a good band enlivened the occasion.

While all the young men acquitted them selves handsomely, we shall be pardoned if we mention the name of James W. Holland, and add, that his oration was considered fault less in its matter and manner of delivery. The recitation from "Othello," by Messrs. Carruth and Timberlake, merited the general applause which it received. To say that the exhibition was creditable to the school, is not sufficient. The speeches of the young men were well written, and evinced a maturity of thought beyond the expectation of such as are not acquainted with the course of study pursued and the thorough mental discipline secured in this noble school. Few colleges in the West are blessed with more learned and experienced instructors and better appliances for furnishing a sound and liberal education. In this school the sons of the rich and poor meet upon a common level. By their impartial discipline, the excellent Faculty succeed in cultivating in the minds of their students genuine self-respect and the noble emulation which leads them to bend every effort, not to excel each other, but to attain the high standard of mental and moral excellence which is constantly held up before them. The value of such a school in its healthy and elevating inluence upon our excellent Ward Schools, in its blessings bestowed upon aspiring youth, possessing the true stamp of genius which, without its appliances, would never have been aroused and directed, in adorning the fair name of our favored city, and exerting its stimulating effects upon the Public Schools of our glorious old Commonwealth, can never be adequately estimated.

To Professor Grant and his associates the friends of education most cheerfully accord Col. SEVENTH WARD SCHOOL -In this school there are eleven teachers, including the Principal. During a visit last week we passed into every room in the building, and saw much to commend. In the Primary Departments, male and female, children readily added single columns of figures placed upon the blackboard. We listened to an exercise in reading in the Male Secondary Department with a great deal of interest. The boys in the first class in the Grammar Department, under the charge of the Principal, performed, correctly and promptly, examples in percentage-the subject of will speak of the Female after making another visit. The school seemed to be commendably progressing, under intelligent management. A BAD HABIT .- One circumstance struck vs forcibly while visiting one of our schools during the last month, and we hope to be pardoned for mentioning it. In a room, under the charge of a gentleman of undoubted capacity as a teacher, and remarkably neat in dress and gentlemanly in his manners, we noticed the stove and the area about it disgustingly beapattered with tobacco juice. If we had a boy under his charge, and feared the influence of such an unbecoming habit of his capacity as a teacher, and remarkably neat in influence of such an unbecoming habit of his teacher, we would make an affectionate, fatherly appeal to him to carry a pocket spittoen and go behind the door when he would expectorate, or suspend the "chewing of the

The accomplished speaker proceeded to show that it was not the intention of the meeting to make an attempt to regulate wages, but to take some steps to aid the poor working women in their laudable attempts to obtain that which is justly their due.

The Secretary of the meeting then came forward and read an exceedingly interesting statement. He was followed by Miss Teresa Esmonde, who read a song written for the occasion by Mrs. Stephens One verse will serve as a specimen of its style and senti-

Miss Esmonde was followed by a smart working woman of middle age, who came forward, and in a business-like manner exhibited specimens of the sewing done by the working women of this city. She spoke distinctly and with a clear voice, making an impression upon the minds and hearts of her hearers that will be long remembered. The following are som the statements she made to her deeply-in-

A pair of drawers made of white cotton drilling, 1,800 stitches, sewed on the machine, and well made. Completely finished, with puckles, buttonholes, straps, and strings. The woman who made these drawers was a smart operator, and could finish four pairs per day, working from 7 A M until 9 in the even ing, receiving four and one-sixth cents a pair, or sixteen and three quarter cents for her day's labor—resting, she says, long enough to make herself a cup of tea and eat a piece of bread. Another very large pair of canton flannel drawers, two thousand stitches, done by hand; double seams, felled; with eyelets, button holes, buttons, stays and strings; the working woman to furnish her own thread—a rule adopted by employers since the price of a spool of cotton has risen from four to eight and ten cents. This woman, the mother of three children, was very poor, and came to the rooms of the Working Women's Protective Union, No. 4 Working Women's Protective Union, No. 4

New Chambers street, where she threw down the work, saying she had been working on these drawers for seven months, and could not work any longer for the price paid. Said she: "I may as well starve without work as to work and starve at the same time." An innuiry revealed the fact that the wealthy firm who employed her paid 5½ cents per pair for these drawers, of which she could make two pairs per day, remarking, "If I get to bed about daylight, and sleep two or three hours, I feel satisfied."

A haversack pocket, made by hand, containing upward of 600 stitches and three button-holes—two yards of sewing.

This article was made by a woman who supported her sick husband and four little children. Each pocket required one hour's faithful labor, and the compensation received was 11/4 cents, or 121/4 cents for ten hours' work. Sue furnished the thread.

A coarse flundel army shirt, large size, made by hand sewing. Collar, wristbands and gussets puts on with double rows of stitching all round. The seams all felled, three button-holes, buttons and stays, requiring upward of 2,000 stitches.

The woman who made this garment was sixty years of age, and too deaf to go to the stores for orders. She has worked on these shirts since the war broke out, receiving seven cents each—one of them being a good day's work for her. Younger women might make two, or perhaps three, in twelve hours, furnishing their own thread. This old lady occurred with another woman a dam dark nishing their own threat. This out hay occupied, with another woman, a damp, dark basement, where she strained her eyes in the day time, and sewed by the light of her neighbor's lamp during the evening. At the end of the week her net earnings, after paying for needles and thread, amounted to 39 cents in the strainers."

[From the Washington "New Nation," Abolition,1 Mr. Lincoln's Honesty and Capacity. We all recollect that worthy citizen of Athers who banished Aristides solely because it annoyed him to hear the epithet, "the Just," opstantly coupled with his name. We have all been struck by this strange specimen of political liberty, and by the lack of judgment in its application. It was not because this undue notoriety given to the name of a citizen of the republic might, after a time, prove dangerous, nor because the epithet of "Just" was questionable, that the worthy citizen of Greece barished Aristides. He would not Greece banished Aristides. He would not even discuss the matter; the epithet annoyed him, and that was enough to estracize its unfortunate bearer. In this we see an excess of liberty and a lack of political education.

Now, we are annoyed and irritated at hearing the words of Abraham Lincoln and honesty always coupled together; but being more generous than the excellent Athenian citizen aforesaid, we propose before estracing homaforesaid, we propose, before ostracising honest Abe from the White House, to consider his right to the surname of "Honest." To call one man honest, out of a population of thirty millions, is not so much of a compliment to him as a sarcasm upon all the rest. Let us look into his honesty and capability. After three years of patient silence, we have a After three years of patient silence, we have a right, and, it is moreover our duty, Mr. Lin-coln, to examine your acts and show them to the nation. You commenced by confiding the fate of our cause, the honor of our arms and the lives of our sons, to men having no more claim to such trust than a host of voters of their command, whose support you coveted— in order to advance the welfare of the na-

We have allowed you to further your politics and personal interests, and to transforminto heroes men whose inefficiency has swalowed up thousands of lives and millions of treasure, so that you might be able to dazzle the eyes of the people with victories far more apparent than real. We have permitted you o sacrifice tried patriots, whose popularity alarmed you, and whose energy disappointed your calculations.

We have allowed you to deceive the people; we have let you transform disgraceful deteats into victories; and even we made no outcry when you were reduced to beg exoneration for acts which have eternally disgraced the honor of our arms. You have been unable either to foresee or forestall anything. What has become of the nation's enthusiasm? What have you done with the immense resources, unprecedented in history, that the nation has lavishly given you?

You are now appealing to conscription, and we will not enter into a discussion of the principle itself, but we will tell you that you should have foreseen that the day must come when you would need these men, and that you were to blame in not calling for them when the people's enthusiasm was first aroused, and they certainly would not have been refused you. You are to blame, inasmuch as, through your incapacity and personal schemes, the necessity for such an appeal has become a question of public safety. You are to blame for depriving us of the services of men whose popularity stimulated that enthusiasm.

You have told the country that both the rebellion and slavery were dead; you have told the people that the forces of the rebels were reduced by desertions, and that they could not be recruited, fed nor clothed; and yet you are forced to act upon the defensive, being threatened at all points.

Whenever you have directed the action of our troops, they have been uniformly unsuccessful; you have perpetually offered us the wretched spectacles of splendid resources and excellent chances of success sacrificed to incapacity. The only success which you came near attaining, but the credit of which we intend to take from you, is due to the incredible imaginativeness that you have displayed in describing facts. Changes of base, masterly retreats, and reconnoissances have appropriately active the with a randitive worthy masterly retreats, and reconnoissances have succeeded each other with a rapidity worthy of the greatest showman of modern times. The immense variety of circumstances is only equaled by the identity of the results. We

The result is everywhere the same—idi-u-

The result is everywhere the sam'—fdiculous and disastrous. The sole concession we can make to your honesty, is that you have improved upon the changes of base in 1862; you destroy tewer soldiers and burn less of the nation's property.

How is it that, after three years of incomparable victories, according to Halleck's facetious expression, "unprecedented in the military history of nations," you are still pondering how to preserve the national capital and your base of operations?

Is it a reward for such success, for the achievements of such results, that you now schievements of such results, that you now ask the nation to pass a vote of confidence, and re-elect you for snother and perhaps another term?

another term?

In your inaugural address you gave a very striking illustration of your peculiar honesty by virtually pledging yourself, in accordance with the well known principles of the party which had elected you, not to serve a second term; you said this in a manner which none of your supporters then misundershood; but term; you said this in a manner which none of your supporters then misunderstood; but your words were evidently designed to beer a double meaning, so that, should you find the sweets of office more enticing than you possibly anticipated, you might change your purpose without seeming to violate your promise. Candid people will see in this a good deal more evidence of curping than of honesty.

The whole truth is this: you are leading the nation quietly to its destruction by deceiving the people as to the dangers which threaten it. In the first part of the campaign of 1863 you gained advantages which you were unable to utilize or even retain in 1863.

you gained advantages which you were unable to utilize or even retain in 1863.

You serificed the entire West for the capture of Vicksburg, and then you proclaim to the four winds that the Mississippi is free, while not a single steamboat can navigate it without being attacked, or perhaps burned, and without every passenger having the fear of death or captivity before his eyes.

To serve the ends of your cause, you have made a hero out of a man on whom you have lavished everything, who had every obstacle removed from his path, and who was promptly furnished with re-enforcements and supplies, while Rosecrans could get none, and who has scarcely been able to hold, with the immense resources at his command, the ground which his predecessor gained in spite of you by his own talents.

You have offered us the distressing spectacle of the sacrifice of merit to caprice and personal political interests, and this in a Repubsical ic, in the name and under the plea of popular sovereignty.

And to cap the climax we are obliged to hear definitions like this: An unconditionally loyal man is one who, although not satisfied with the measures taken by the Government, approves them all, and gives his constant sup

God alone, by bestowing upon the country inexhaustible natural wealth, and that ardent patriotism, which makes every soldier a hero, has saved the country from the ruin into which your selfshness would plunge it. This is the secret of the difference between your currency and that of the South.

We have been imposed upon long enough. The ruin which you have been unable to accomplish in four years would certainly be fully consummated were your to remain in power four years longer. Your Military Govpower four years longer. Your Military Governors and their Provost Marshals override the laws, and the ecoo of the armed heel rings forth as clearly now in America as in France or Austria. You have encroached liberty without securing victory, and we must

You have dishonored us abroad by shameless misrepresentations as to our true condi-tion. Places that we occupied in 1862 are now again in the hands of the rebels, and God knows whether your preparations for the ap-proaching campaign are adequate. Corrup-ion has entered into every department of your administration, rendering it a very Augean stable, which needs a Hercules as your successor. It is time for the light to shine forth and for the truth to fully appear, so that all sincere patriots, all men who look for nothing further than the advancement of their country and of liberty, may rally in one connect hedy around the greet principle of compact body around the great principle of liberalism and form a liberal party really worthy of the name. Such a one only can save the country.

Away with all the impostors who have invaded the temple of liberty and turned it into a vote market. Let there be an end of this which is only fit to secure the votes of those fools who, instead of delving to the root of the matter, blindly believe all the interested falsehoods published by journals that are paid to applied and submit, whether right or Mr. Lincoln's honesty is of a strange description. It consists in nearly ruining his country, and in disregarding its interests in order to make sure of power for four years longer. To our eyes, the man who has deprived his country of the services of some of its best citizens, who has been unable to make any better use of the incredible resource. its best citizens, who has been unable to make any better use of the incredible resources confided to him, and who, after agitating so many public questions without solving one of them, disregards his own utter incapacity, is, of all the citizens of the United States, the least honest and the most dangerous.

But even if President Lincoln were the honest man that his paid organs represent him to be, how dangerous would his re-election prove to the liverties of the people, under existing circumstances, surrounded as he is with the military influences that he has at his back! Let us remember the teachings at his back! Let us remember the teachings of history and the instances of feigned or real imbecility, all of which have reunited in despotism. Sixtus V, the half stupid monk in his cell, Napoleon III., the sottish de-bauch, belong to the same school. Easter -To day is Easter, the festival of the resurrection of our Lord, or the Christian Passover. For a long time there was a great controversy waged among the early Eastern and Western Churches as to the proper day for the observance of this festival; but the ing the rule which makes Easter day to be a - a member of Congress from Southern Illiways the first Sunday after the full moon if the full moon happens on a Sunday, Easter day is the Sunday after. By this arrangement Easter may come as early as March 221, or as late as April 25th.

This sacred festival has been termed the queen of festivals; it has been observed from the very beginning, and it is celebrated in every part of the Christian world with great solemnity and devotion. The primitive Christians very early on the morning of Easter saluted each other with the words: "Christ is risen;" to which the response was made: "Christ is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon." The Greek Church still retains this now under the orders of Major General Lo eastom. In nearly all Christian countries the recurrence of Easter has been celebrated with various ceremonies, popular sports, and superstitions. Among the best known is the English custom of making presents of colored eggs, called pasche, or paste eggs, which were often elaborately ornamented.

Colored eggs were used by children at East er in a sort of game which consists in testing months-women in men's clothes, and men the strength of the egg shells, and this practice is retained in many places in England and the United States. In some parts of Ireland the legend is current that the sun dances in the sky on Easter Sunday morning. The day is celebrated by the Roman Catholic Church throughout the world with great ceremony.

CONFISCATION IN KENTUCKY.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals in the case of Norris vs. Dompleon, on appeal from Mason county, have decided the following points in reference to the act of Congress to confiscate the property of certain classes of rebels, Green.

1. The authority to make war for the suppression of the rebellion is derived from those clauses of the Constitution which declare that "the President shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed," and that Congress shall have powerful." laws be faithfully executed," and that Congress shall have power "to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrection, and repel in-

vs. United States; 8 Cranch.)

4. The Constitution does not prohibit the confiscation of the property of slien enemics. The protection received by aliens, residing abroad, with reference to their property here, is due, not to the Constitution, but to international comity, which may be suspended during the way. But the Constitution and not ing the war. But the Constitution, and not the law of nations, governs the relations be-tween the Government and citizens of the United States. They, though trailors, must be dealt with according to the Constitution.

5. The act under consideration is unconstitutional, because it attempts to authorize the confiscation of the property of citizens, as a punishment for treason and other crimes, without due process of law by proceedings in rem in any district in which the property may be, without presentment or indictment by a grand jury; without arrest or summons of the owner, and upon such evidence of his guilt as would be sufficient proof of any fact in admiralty or revenue cases, (Constitu-tion, article 3, section 2; sub sect 3, and section 3, sub sect 1; and articles 5th and 6th of Amendments) 2,600 endments) 6. The clause of the Constitution which authorizes Congress ".o declare war, grant letters cerning captures on land and water," has no bearing on this question. It relates only to war with foreign nations.—[The Brilliant vs.

The answer avers that, when the rebel-Arkansas, where she could better have its lung complaints—the only family medicine protection, and where she has continued to that physicians will acknowledge is good. this time to give aid and comfort to the re-bellion by her means and money. Held, upon demurrer, that, if the statements of the answer are true, the plaintiff cannot, upon common law principles, maintain an action here during the war; and her petition should be dismissed without prejudice.

Judge Williams delivered a separate opinion, in which he held among other things:

1. That both the Congress of the United States and State Legislatures are prohibited from passing bills of attainder; and that none but judicial attainder is known to our consti-tutions, whether Federal or State.

3. That treason against the United States can only be committed by actually levying POTATOES, war against them, er in adhering to their en-in time of war, giving them aid and BUTTER, 4. That the trial and punishment for treason has been confided by the Constitution to the Courts of the country; the punishment to be prescribed by Congress, within constitutional limits.

5. That even upon judicial attainder for personal estate, save for the life of the person 6. That the limitation on the power to pun-ish for treason is a limitation on the war power as to this crime.

7 That this act of Congress, of July 17th, 7 That this act of Congress, of July 1182, 1862, to suppress insurrection, &c., is in derogation of the personal rights, and rights of property, of the citizen, as guaranteed both in the Federal and State Constitutions.

That said act is not in conformity with the Federal Constitution, and is in conflict with the Constitutions and laws of the States, and derogatory to their sovereignty.

9. That said act cannot be justified by the laws of nations, nor by the usages of war, as recognized by modern, civilized and Christian

10. That, being in conflict with the United States Constitution, it cannot be upheld as a rule prescribed by a sovereign, in derogation of the laws of nations, but is a nullity.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE CENTRAL OHIO .-The train of cars coming east yesterday morning met with an accident four miles east morning met with an accident four miles east of Barnesville, resulting in the death of two men and the wounding of some half dozen others. The accident was caused by the breaking of a defective reil. The engine and baggage car passed over safely, but the next car was precipitated down an embankment into Leatherwood creek, and was deposited in about three feet of mud and water. The next car was also thrown off the track, but as the car was also thrown off the track, but as the coupling did not give way it was deposited in an almost perpendicular position upon the embankment. The confusion and terror among the large number of passengers was

Officers, soldiers and their friends are cordially invited to attend stopped its throbbing, his pulse cease found, and is supposed to nave been buried beneath the wreck. A soldier by the name of Johnson became entangled in the wreck and could not extricate himself. A negro man, seeing his dangerous situation, seized him and held his head out of the water until others came to the rescue. Johnson is nevertheless badly injured, and, it is said, cannot recover. Some half dozen other persons, prippically soldiers, whose names we could not learn, were more or less injured.

The breaking of the rail was owing to the fact that the cross-ties at the point indicated were too wide apart, and the rail could not stand the weight.

OBITUARY. THE LATE REV. JAMES H. OWEN. No department of life is exempt from the blighting vistations of Death, and no place, however sacred, ibsurced to the entrance of the puissant destroyer. Every the pulpit is desecrated by the rude footsteps of this utilies invader, and its occupant is compelled to cease reclaiming the Gospel, and to fall into the yawning rave.

the pulpit is desecrated by the rude footsteps of this ruthless invader, and its occupant is compelled to cease proclaiming the Gospel, and to fall into the yawning stave.

The oft-reneated aphorism, "Death loves a shining mark," has been forcibly illustrated in the demise of the Rev. Jas. H. Owan. Truly, a tail sentinal on the walls of Zion, has fallen. A bright star, just emerging into its meridian splendor, has vanished from the ecclesiastical ky. It was indeed a strange and mysterious providence, that so young, able and promising a minister should be removed from life's busy scenes, while other ministers, old and almost worn out, are left to help keep floating aloft the glorious banner of the Cross. But the ways of God are inscrutable, and, doubtless, invariably for the best.

Brother Owen stood high in the ranks of the Louisville Conference of the M. E. Church, as a minister, having acted as Secretary of that body for several years, and, at the early age of twenty-eight, was appointed Presiding Elder of the Louisville District, and for four years creditably and fathfiely discharged the duties of that responsible office. Last fall he was appointed Pastor of Shelbr-street Church, and from his first appearance in its pulpit, love, attachment, and affectionate regard for their preacher, steadily grow in the hearts of his hearers. In his multifarious ministerial appointments, heavers. In his multifarious ministerial appointments, heavers, he had been supported by the considering and a service of the course of the cou that he attributed his conversion to the Brookst. Sai bath School.

For several months past, it was evident that brothe Owen's health was declining. It is probable that nu merous and ardusus preparations for the pulpit (for he was a diligent student), and the incessant labors ameonstant exposers incident to a rotracted meting o several weeks' duration, told fearfully upon his natural it delicate constitution. With the laurel wreaths of a successful revival clustering fresh upon his brow—for scores of souls had been converted—he was pro-tracted upon his death-hed. A few days of intense suffering brought the dying hour, and on the morning of the 15th of March, a few moments after midnight, his hear stopped its throbbing, his pulse cassed to beat, and an oth read ensured in the peerless realm of Heaven. He died, as all good m-n die, sweetly, serenely and triumphantly. His joyous spirit, disrobed of its incumbrance of clay, winged its unrestricted flight into the visible wresence of Jehovah.

Bereaved and grief-stricken wife and children, your dear husband and father is not dead, but sleepeth. The abernacle in which he dwelt on earth is mouldering no dust, but he still lives. The trump of the archangel will sound by and by, and his sleeping dust will be transformed into giorried humanity. Meanwhile his happy youl will look for you to rejoin him in that clime of infable glory, where he erjoys the exhaustless happiness of Paradise, and reaps the rich reward of the faithful historian.

Proclamation by the President His Definition of the Amuesty Proc lamation.

The Secretary of State and the French-Mexican Question.

He Advocates Immediate Action

WASHINGTON, March 26. By the President of the United States of America Whereas, it has become recessary to define the causes on which insurgent enemies are entitled to the benefits of the proclamation of the President of the United States, which was the President of the United States, which was made on the 9th day of December 1863, and the manner in which they shall proceed to avail themselves of these benefits; and whereas, the object of that proclam in was to suppress insurrection and to restout the authority of the United States; and whereas, the ampesty therein proposed by the President was offered with reference to these objects alone. Now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, do hereby pro-claim and declare that the said proclamation sees not apply to the cases of prisoners who, t the time they seek to obtain benefits thereby by taking the cath thereby prescribed in military, naval or civil counts, are in custody or under bonds or parole of the civil, military or naval authorities or agents of the United States as prisoners of war, or persons detained for offenses of any kind, either before or after conviction; and that, on the contrary it does apply to only it of these presents. trary, it does apply to only to those persons who, being yet at large and free from arrest or confluement or duress, shall voluntarily come forward and take said ath with the purpose of restoring peace an establishing the national authority.

Prisoners excluded from he amnesty offered in the said proclamationmay apply to the President for elemency, likeall other offend-ers, and the application will receive due consideration.

I do further declare and proclaim that the oath prescribed in the aforeaid proclamation of the 9th of December, 186, may be taken before any commissioned offier, either civil, military, or naval, in the servee of the United States, or civil, military, or payal officer of any States, or Territory, not in insurrection, who by State or Territory not in insurrection, who, by the laws thereof, may be qualfied for adminstering an oath.
All officers who receive such oath are hereby suthorized to give certificaes to such per-sons respectively by whom hey are made; and such officers are herely required to transmit the records of such oths at as early day as may be convenient to be Department of State, when they will be decisted and renain in the archives of the government. The Secretary of State will keep a egistry thereof and upon application in projec cases issue certificates of such record in the customary orm of certificates. In testimony whereof, I hav hereto set my hand and caused the seal to be fixed. Done at the city of Washington, the 26th day of March, in the year of our Lrd 1864, and of the independence of the Unied States the ABRAHM LINCOLN. W. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State. [Special to the Commecial.] WASHINGTON, March 26. The Secretary of State is un'erstood to be in favor of an immediate and dergetic dem-onstration against the evident designs of the Mexican empire and the French, in connection with the great rebellion. It is to be regretted if such a demonstration's really to be made, that it should have been postponed till the moment when its only effect must be to precipitate us into fresh and most danger-ous complications. New Orleans Sweet Potatoes, 45 BBLS JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE BY GRIFFITH & BOARD, Main st., bet. Third and Fourth.

[From the Richmond Whig. The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our Government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya for the pres ervation of the health of our soldiers. This article ha a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties, was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark, which it contained as one of its principal ingredients. "In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared. We understand that our Government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not know." We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Gov-ernment" will yet want. We know that we have the best and most popular dicine in the world, We are not afraid to show what it is composed of. Physicians are compelled to recommend it. CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hunired years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, dred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis Avi, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fe-vers, Weakness, Constipation, &c. CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Coliq, and disease

[For the Louisville Sunday Democrat.] "KINDRED GRAVES."

Affectionately Inscribed to Mrs. Louisa M. Burn of Hartland, Huron County, Ohio.

Winds of autumn, touch them lightly-Snows of winter, very gently Wrap those mounds afar; Day-time, night-time, in her roaming, Finds that friend in sorrow gloaming-Nothing half so fair, As the sweet-heart blossoms faded, When she left them-meekly sleeping-

Those loved ones there. Spring-time daisles twice have blossomed Since she said-from out her bosom-"Bertie," fade away;

'Twas the chill and gloom of winter, When she kissed him, mildly weeping, On a solemn day; There they laid him, w.th the rarest Halo on his face's fairness,

By a tomb, where dewy showers Gemmed the grass, in summer hours, In the vale below,

In the frozen clay.

Orphan voices wept in childhood; Birds sung matins in the wildwood, Thirteen years ago, When the mother went to heaven-Now the midnight stars are weeping

And a grave yet wider, deeper, Of a brave though gentle sleeper, Resting all alone. Trusting God, and nothing fearing.

O'er another woe,

Turned to Him, for patient hearing, When the strife was done; 'Twas the faith of one who faltered Never in the ceaseless combat-Death the prize had won. "Muskets roar" and "cannon rattle"-

"And the din of distant battle" New will pass him o'er; All the tumult, hoping, fearing, Fainter grew as he was nearing The Eternal shore!

Voice of mother, child, nor brother, Cometh as the sun to cheer her, On earth nevermore! SALLIE J. HANCOCK.

Before reaching Buttea La Rose, they came upon a rebel camp and opened fire. The rebels ran and the gunboats landed the men, who burned the tents and camp equipage and captured the arms and ammunition of the entire force. The guerrillas had made their appearance in the vicinity of Baton Rouge and had several skirmishes with the Fourth Wisconsin mounted infantry, which resulted in consin mounted infantry, which resulted invariably in our favor. Several prisoners were taken. Advices from Brownsville report no prospects of fighting.

The Liberal cause is brightening.

CAIRO, March 25. At an early hour in the forenoon of the 23d intelligence was received by Gen. Brayman that Forrest was advancing on Union City with eight thousand men. He sent Captain Odlir, A. A. G., to ascertain the truth of the report. The Captain found the pickets driven in, and afterward the wires were cut. Things looked so uniavorable that Gen. Brayman proceeded to Columbus with three thousand men and one hattery, where he was informed. men and one battery, where he was informed that Col. Hawkins, who commanded at Union City, could probably hold out until he could be re-enforced.

that Col. Hawkins, who commanded at Union City, could probably hold out until he could be re-enforced.

Troops were arriving and forwarded by train to within six miles of Union City, when they were informed that Col. Hawkins had surrendered with his whole command, numbering 425 men, all armed and equipped, and 500 of them were mounted. A few mules and an insignificant amount of stores fell into the hands of the enemy.

After destroying the fortifications, the rebels retreated South, taking their prisoners. They numbered not more than one fourth of what was at first reported, with no artillery. General Grierson has sent a strong force of cavalry from Memphs in pursuit of them.

Great excitement existed at Fort Pillow on the might of the 234, lest they should attack that pisce. It had been determined by the commanding General to give up the small places which are held by a small force, and hold only such places as are of importance and insure safety to our communications.
